Dear Darin:

This is in regard to a product that we showed to Marcia Costello at Babies R Us/Toys R Us. This product was a Boppy with a restraint to hold baby in place, and a retractable sun shade. We showed this to Marcia on February 14, 2002. She and her boss, Steve, had asked us to show them some new directions and ideas. We showed her a prototype of a product and Clarice and I made the day before. We did not have any details to present with this product, such as pricing. It was simply a concept. I recall that Marcia said, "I like where you're going. Work on it some more and show me a more developed product."

Best regards,

Susan M. Brown
President
